

GreeneSpeak

NO PEACE
between the lines
PAGE 5

Perry Township:
Election heats up
PAGE 6

Washington Twp
supervisor resigns
PAGE 6

User Friendly:
EEK! Scary
Scareware!
PAGE 7

Who are the Kids of the King?
PAGE 10

They deserve a better legacy than this
PAGE 4

Muzungu in Uganda:
See Centerfold

'Secret chemicals'
in YOUR water?
PAGE 9

45: Lucky Number
in Rices Landing
PAGE 18

Cornerstone Care:
Protecting Against the H1N1 Flu Virus
PAGE 18

GREENESPEAK:
Greene County news
and views you won't read anywhere else!

Regular features:

The WET HEN.....	4
Appetizers	7
User Friendly.....	7
Take me back.....	7
PUZZLE ME	17
Roots of Health.....	17
Health Notes.....	18
Recent deaths.....	19
From the Pastor.....	19
FenceRow Philosopher.....	20
Wild & Greene.....	20
Kar'en About You, Simply.....	21
As I Remember it.....	21
Classifieds.....	22
Cindy's Wind.....	22

Standing by Dunkard Creek in Perry Township near the mouth of Big Shannon Run, Sydney and Dylan Wiley shield themselves from the death and decay which overtook the creek early last month. Dunkard Creek Watershed Association President Betty Wiley shared this photo of her grandchildren with us, noting, "Sydney is 48 inches tall so you can see the size of the fish that were once four-ounce muskies." See 'SOMETHING ROTTEN IN DUNKARD' Pages 15-16.

